A Note from the Editor

If anyone has any good pictures, articles, comments, or something they want to sell or give away, please e-mail me at happiegall@yahoo.com so I can put it in the newsletter for you! Thanks! ~Christine Levy

Boulder Cycling Maps

I have reprinted a few copies of a Boulder Area Cycling Map from the early 80's, a great map that includes distances and elevations of our favourite roads. Most of the current cycling routes are included, including those that used to be unpaved. If you'd like a hard or soft copy of the map, give me a call. Jim 303.220.7675. If I have a huge demand for these, they'll be $1 each to reprint.

FOR SALE!!!

~Paul Braun has a line on some Italian frames and complete bikes.

Steel frames starting at $495, aluminum frames starting at $595, aluminum carbon frames starting at $795 and a few complete Campy equipped bikes starting at $1099.

Lance Armstrong on Oprah

For any of you that didn't catch the Oprah episode that featured Lance Armstrong, here's a quick recap of the most critical details. Aside from Oprah's ignorance about bike racing and the humorous race between her and Lance in the hills of Texas, Lance revealed that he will be vying for his seventh straight title in the Tour de France this year! All else seemed unimportant. ☺

Five Reasons Why a Bike is Better than a Valentine

- 1) You don't need an excuse like an official holiday to confess your love to your bike.
- 2) Bikes don't like cheesy Hallmark cards either.
- 3) You can feel the fresh breeze on a bike ride instead of the circulated air in a stuffy restaurant.
- 4) Your bike won't be expecting expensive jewelry and roses.
- 5) Your bike gives you that excuse to eat chocolate and candy hearts! ♡

☆ A LITTLE COMIC RELIEF ☆

~Why can't a bicycle stand up on its own?

Because it's too tired!

~A tandem rider is stopped by a police car. "What've I done, officer?" asks the rider. "Perhaps you didn't notice sir, but your wife fell off your bike half a mile back . . ."
"Oh, thank God for that," says the rider - "I thought I'd gone deaf!"
